INSURANCE PREMIUM TAX

RETURNS MADE BY INSURANCE COMPANIES NOT SATISFACTORY TO TREASURER CAMPBELL.

The marine insurance people and the Territorial treasurer are still at loggerheads over the levying of the tax on insurance premiums. It appears from the returns recently filed by the companies doing business locally that they have in every case deducted the full amount that they have placed in re-insurance. The government holds that re-insurance may only be allowed for when the re-insuring company is licensed to do business in the Territory of Hawaii.

"If re-insurance premiums on business does with companies not licensed to do business here are deducted, the Territory receives nothing whatever from that particular business," said Treasurer Campbell this morning. "The Attorney General advises me that I am right in the presumption that this is not intended so the companies will be notified to alter their returns thus incorrectly made."

M'GURN GETS A NEW POLICE JOB

IS MADE FASHION PLATE AND
BEAU BRUMMEL FOR THE POLICE FORCE OF TERRITORY.

Deputy Sheriff Albert McGurn has a new job. He is a fashion plate. Scarcely anybody who has dodged McGurn searching for victims for a rush venire or else dodged other legal service will refuse to admit that McGurn is just about the finest looking of the finest, so the new position of the handsome deputy sheriff is not a surprise, the only reason for surprise is that he has not been selected before for the job.

It has been High Sheriff Brown who has promoted McGurn. The High Sheriff has recently issued rules regarding a new style of uniform to be worn by the sheriffs, deputy sheriffs and police officers in districts outside of Honolulu. The uniform is modeled after the one in which McGurn has been making such a stunning appearance the last month or so. The High Sheriff is sending out notice to the various sheriffs and deputies apprising them of the new style of uniform that is to be worn. The material is woolen khaki for dress uniform for attendance on courts and other occasions, while cotton khaki is used for ordinary police work and riding. The sheriff has caused McGurn to pose in the new uniform before the photographer. A number of photographs of the deputy have been struck off and these are being sent as fashion plates to the different officers about the islands as models. The riding uniform includes leggings.

UNCERTAIN ABOUT SIBERIA'S ARRIVAL

STEAMER IS TO BE FITTED WITH NEW STERN POST BUT MAY BE LAID UP TWO MONTHS.

Considerable uncertainty exists regarding the arrival of the S. S. Siberia at this port from San Francisco. It was stated by the Pacific Mail officials a week ago, that they hoped to get the Siberia away this month on the Oriental run. Subsequent events indicate a possibility that she may be laid up longer than was then anticipated.

According to statements made by officers of the Korea yesterday, the Siberia was to be fitted with a new stern post. This steel casting had been ordered from the Newport News Shipbuilding plant where the Siberia was built. If the casting was satisfactory and without any flaw, the probabilities were that the Siberia would be able to be dispatched the early part of October but, on the contrary, if this casting was not satisfactory, the vessels might have to be laid up two months longer.

WANTS TO USE NAVAL STATION

J. W. A. REDHOUSE MAKES APPLICATION FOR PERMISSION TO USE OBSERVATORY.

J. W. A. Redhouse has made application to Admiral Terry of the local Naval Station, for permission to use the observatory station of the Coast and Geodetic Survey on the Naval grounds, for securing the correct time at this place. Redhouse is in the business of securing and supplying vessels with chronometers and correcting these nautical instruments. The Coast and Geodetic Survey station is the correct spot according to longitudinal determination and Redhouse thinks that he will be more apt to get more exact time if taking observations at that place, than if he went to some other place in the city. Redhouse desires to take his observations from the stars.

BERGER LEAVES ON VACATION

WILL TAKE THE ALAMEDA TOMORROW WHILE NAONE WIELDS THE BATON HERE.

This afternoon he was busy saying good-bye to his hosts of friends and tomorrow the Alameda will bear the pride of Hawaii Californiawards. While in San Francisco Captain Berger will conduct the band at one of the Sunday concerts in Golden Gate Park as he has done on former occasions. He is an old friend of Paul Steindorf, director of the band.

Preparing Winter Campaign Against Gen. Kuropatkin

JAPANESE ARE SHOWING MOST ASTONISHING CUNNING AND SAGA.
CITY IN SELECTING THEIR MEN FOR FUTURE OPERATIONS
AGAINST RUSSIAN ARMIES IN MANCHURIA—SNOW DWELLERS CHOSEN FOR WINTER CAMPAIGN.

The elements have no terrors for Marshal Oyama. The wily Japanese field commander and the war department are showing a shrewdness and sagacity in the detail of their armies that is undreamt of by European nations.

Among the thorough passengers on the Mongolia are a number of war correspondents and several army men, one of whom was the military attaché of the United States with the Japanese forces. These men were greatly impressed with the cunning of the Japanese military men, one of them who spoke on the matter, did not care to have his identity divulged for reasons that might be self apparent, but his observations can readily be seen to have emanated from a military student and observer who is competent to judge. He seemed to think that there would be only one outcome of this war and this was the success of the Japanese for, to quote him "what can any country do against such a cunning, shrewd, desperate people as the Japs are showing themselves in all respects, to be?"

"While much has been written," he continued "of the war operations of Oyama against Kuropatkin but comparatively little is known of the inner detail of the Japanese army. One of the most striking illustrations of the sagacity and cunning of the Japanese, is the selection of the personnel of the forces that have been operating against Kuropatkin. In the fighting in those mountain passes, practically all of the men engaged on the Japanese side, were from the hill and mountain districts of Japan. They were specially selected for those operations. The armies that have recently been operating against Kuropatkin were made up of recruits taken from the Satsuma and other southern districts of Japan, where the weather is experienced. The heat in those districts is almost tropical in the summer, so the men from that locality were selected to do the work in the present summer campaign against the Russians.

"Now that the summer campaign is closing and the winter is approaching, an entirely new character of soldier is to be put into the field. The Japanese have been rushing for weeks past, thousands of recruits to the front, from an entirely different district. The new recruits are from the Hakaido district in the northern part of Nippon and also from the islands lying north of that island. The winter is very severe in those sections, the fall of snow every winter being as deep as 16 and 12 feet.

"The Japanese seem to think that the men who have been used to the heavy winter weather will make the best troops for winter campaigns so they are reinforcing Oyama's army with that character of men. The veterans of the present Liaoyang campaign will not, of course, be withdrawn but the new troops will undoubtedly, be utilized in the general advance guard and rapid operations incidental to the initiative against the Russians. The sending of this class of recruits to the front is regarded as very significant. It indicates in the opinion of many, that the Japanese propose to continue operations in the coming winter against the Russians. The general sentiment of the Japanese is one of confidence."

Home Rulers Turn Down Cecil Brown

DECLINE TO PLACE HIM ON THEIR SENATORIAL TICKET AT THE OAHU CONVENTION HELD TODAY—FULL TICKET NAMED HOWEVER—FIFTH DISTRICT CONVENTION TO MEET THIS AFTERNOON.

The Home Rule senatorial convention for the island of Oahu met this morning at the Home Rule headquarters. As usual the spacious pocket of D. Kalaaukalan, Sr., held the party intact and he was able to dominate affairs as in the past. He presided.

The following were chosen as the senatorial nominees: D. Kalaaukalan, Sr., J. K. Paete and S. K. Oili. Kalaaukalan received the full strength of the convention, 54 votes, but the other did not. An attempt was made to saddle the ticket with Cecil Brown as a senatorial nominee but the measure signally failed, Brown receiving only 14 votes. The other nominees were members of the last House and Kalaaukalan of the Senate.

The convention of the Fifth District is meeting this afternoon, while the Fourth District will meet on Friday. It is understood that David Kupieha and Jessie Makainai, the former Home Rulers who were nominated by the Democrats, will not be nominated or endorsed by the Fifth District Home Rule convention. A full ticket is to be put into the field from the Fifth District, but there is a question as to putting up a complete ticket in the Fourth District.

MANY SAW THE MONGOLIA DEPART

VESSEL TODAY FROM HONOLULU—BAND PLAYS.

A large crowd saw the big S. S. Mongolia sail at 11 o'clock this morning for San Francisco. A good sized crowd departed on her from Honolulu. Although the crowd on the vessel would make the ordinary liner look jammed, people on the wharf were declaring that there was such a small lot of people on the big vessel, Captain Berger and the band were in attendance and played the vessel away.

Mr. and Mrs. August Dreier were departing passengers for the mainland. Emil A. Berndt manager of W. W. Diamond and Company, was a departing passenger for the mainland, on a vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Halstead were also on the list of departing Honoluluans.

Rev. Dr. Scudder and wife departed after an extended visit to Hawaii. Deputy Attorney General E. C. Peters and bride nee Smith, departed for a visit to the mainland.

Mrs. J. K. Gandall also left for the mainland.

M. M. O'Shaughnessy the engineer left for San Francisco.

F. C. Jones was also a departing Honolulu for San Francisco.

The Mongolia is due in San Francisco next Tuesday.

JAPANESE CALLED BACK

A YOUTH WHO ARRIVED ON THE MONGOLIA IS TRANSFERRED TO THE KOREA.

A very peculiar transaction occurred on the S. S. Mongolia yesterday whereby a young Japanese in the steerage en route to San Francisco, was recalled home on a cable order from Count Matsui the Secretary of the Japanese legation at Washington.

Rikichi Kimura was the name of the young traveler. He was travelling steerage but one glance at him was sufficient to show that he was not the ordinary common class of Japanese that usually travels in that part of the vessel. His companions seemed to appreciate this fact and although no hint of the character of his mission to the mainland was given the other Japs deferred to him in quite a marked way.

When the Mongolia docked at the Haddock wharf this morning, one of the first people to go aboard was one of the secretaries from the local Japanese consulate. The secretary made careful inquiries for the young passenger. When informed that he was not travelling cabin, the secretary seemed to be surprised. He explained that it was important to ascertain if he were aboard, as a cablegram had been received from Count Matsui directing that the young man be returned to Japan by the S. S. Korea. An investigation disclosed the fact that the young man was travelling steerage.

An arrangement was effected whereby the fellow was allowed to land and put aboard the Korea to sail this evening for Japan. It was stated that the Jap's father was ill but this explanation is not credited by the steamer people or others. It is thought the transfer of the young man was ordered by the Japanese government. It was hinted on the vessel, that he was a secret service agent of the Japanese government.

All those who qualified are asked to present themselves at once for registration. The registration board is holding daily sessions in the building adjoining the post office.

RUSSIA MUST WIN

possible that Japan may be able to carry on the war for a year longer but even then she will be exhausting her life's blood. The second reserves are now being called out and when these are once in the field the only remaining force that Japan will have will be the result of the "levee en masse" when every person able to bear arms will be called on. Unless one has been in Japan at this time one can hardly imagine the sacrifice that the people of every class are making for the carrying on of the war. Their soldiers are courageous to a degree and their people are patriotic to a fault but it must be remembered that even if the Russian armies at present in the field were wiped out, Russia would be able to replace them with others.

Fisher has with him one of the Murai rifles, the weapon with which the second reserves now being mobilized, are armed. It is a rough looking weapon of Japanese manufacture, sighted up to 2000 yards. Its principal fault lies in the disposition of the magazine which lies in a cylinder running the length of the barrel after the fashion of the old style of Winchester. This of course changes the point of balance as each shot is fired and renders it less reliable in point of accuracy, though as a matter of fact the percentage of aimed fire in a general action is so small that it is doubtful if the difference will be appreciable.

Fisher was in Tokio during the operations about Liaoyang and he describes the anxiety there for five days as being soul racking. Contrary to general belief based on cable dispatches that Kuropatkin got out of Liaoyang only by the skin of his teeth Fisher says that the Russian general made a masterly evacuation taking away all of his guns and losing comparatively few men in the movement. The material captured by the Japanese was not at Liaoyang proper but was at or near the railroad which lies several miles to the east of Liaoyang. The loss of this was entirely due to the bad work of the Russian general Orloff who displayed marked incapacity. The blame for the loss of Liaoyang is "properly placed on his shoulders. He had command of the Russian right but his vacillation enabled the Japanese to turn his flank and he was forced to retire beyond the railroad line leaving his stores to the enemy. Kuropatkin saw at once that with his right crushed in he could not hope to hold Liaoyang and he made his arrangements to retreat accordingly. The Russian left and center did splendid work and at one time Kuropatkin was in a bad place. He was making an attempt to cut the railroad behind Liaoyang when he was nipped between the forces of Kuropatkin going north and those of a relieving army coming south from Yentai. For five days "Tokio heard nothing whatever from Kuropatkin and the wildest rumors were current so that the relief felt when it was known that he was safe was beyond description.

It is stories of this nature, for the accuracy of which the Times' correspondent vouches, that the Japanese censors will not permit the correspondents to send out in any shape and he is also convinced that losses have been far greater than official reports show them. On the other hand the Japanese have taken such remarkable steps for fighting the diseases incidental to campaigning that where they lose one man by illness or through exposure the Russians lose ten.

"Japan's commissariat, medical service and transportation facilities are the best in the world," said Fisher "and to this they owe very much of their success."

He thinks that people are apt to underestimate the importance of Port Arthur's gallant defence. The place is a veritable thorn in Japan's side as it keeps a huge army and the entire navy busy with comparatively few men on the Russian side employed and certainly without any bother to Kuropatkin.

"Every day that Port Arthur holds out is a distinct loss to Japan," he said "With that fortress once out of the way the campaign may be said to have begun."

THE FISHERIES CASES.

In settling up so far as is possible the status of the cases before Attorney General Andrews regarding fishing privileges, the services of S. M. Kanakani have been loaned by the Survey Department as he has a thorough knowledge of the subject. After the original claims and maps have been filed and the evidence submitted before the Attorney General and Kanakani, the claims are submitted to him for thorough investigation. In the case of the Territory against Anna Perry the witnesses have been asked to appear again as the department has found additional evidence of great importance.
